Miss Emiline Bee Hive!

The Queen of the young people, sent to us direct by old Santa Claus, will make her first appearance in the center window on Tuesday night. Miss Emiline brings with her the grandest collection of Xmas presents ever shown in Maysville. We received a letter from her on Saturday and she writes as follows:

Mrs. Bros., Maysville, Ky.—My Dear Friends: I leave here Saturday at 3:15 with old Santa, and if there are not bad will see you on Tuesday afternoon. Santa Claus told me he was in Maysville in October and went through every store in your town, and after looking through all of them he decided to send me to your store; and oh! I am so happy, because old Santa told me that you have the nicest store in town, and the nicest clerks, and that more little children trade at your store than all the others together. Be sure and tell all the children to come and see me; and tell them I am bringing the prettiest things along with me, and so very many. Tell the children that I am bringing things for their papas, mamas and their brothers and sisters. I think old Santa Claus is bringing too many things for your town; it seems to me he is sending enough Xmas presents for a city like New York. I must stop now. Hoping to find you all well, I am, with lots of love, your little friend,

We hope our young friends will give Miss Emiline a great reception.

THE MODERN MOTHER

Has found that her little ones are improved more by the laxative effect of a gentle remedy than by any other. Children enjoy it and it benefits them. The true remedy Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

Mr. OLIVER, Ky., December 3. Editor Mayville Ledger: Congressman Charles K. Wheeler spoke to about fifty of the interested at the Courthouse in Mt. Olive County Court Day. There was a large crowd in town, and it must have been somewhat discouraging to the distinguished gentleman upon his cool down on so many empty benches.

Curiously, at least, to see the gifted orator who was told by the Democratic Campaign Committee to "go to back and sit down!" After the challenge of abuse and fifth at Mayville at the beginning of the late campaign, should have filled Robertson county's Temple Justice to overflowing.

Mr. Wheeler made a good speech, entirely free of abuse and practically devoid of democracy or of any political opinions whatever. In fact, the greater part of his speech would have made a splendid prelude to a Republican oration. He seems to have profited by the severe criticisms of his Mayville debate.

I am really sorry that he did not have a better hearing, and it is in a measure humiliating to have seen a prominent Democrat during a continued flow of genuine eloquence for nearly two hours the distinguished speaker was interrupted by applause enough for a tragedian telling an anecdote. I was at a loss to account for this apparent lack of appreciation until after the speech was over, when, upon asking a prominent Democrat how he liked the speech, he said: "I didn't like it. I couldn't tell which side he was on. He didn't abuse you Republicans enough for a tragedian Democrat." But when I informed him that in his immediate neighborhood where he was known the speaker was considered as two or more elsewheres in the Democratized Mayville, he said, "Well, he'll do, then."

The speech of the eloquent Congressman was, perhaps, more able, sagacious and Democratic than any other I have seen than from what he actually said. In fact, the only true Democratic ring to his whole speech was in his eloquent objection to all the Republican and Republican legislation and his failure to suggest anything better. It was really in hopes Mr. Wheeler would suggest some Democratic remedy for the hard times we are now all enjoying.

His reference to the struggle of the three great world forces, individual liberty, freedom of conscience and commercial supremacy, with the tyranny and superstition of the Old World, and their adoption and development by the fathers of our Republic, was truly great and stamped the speaker as a classical scholar well versed in ancient history, but when he passionately rounded out this eloquent passage in his address by saying that "the great old Democratic party has always stood for these immortal principles," he somewhat shocked his audience and led them to think he was either trying to make a huge joke on them or was sadly deficient in modern history. However, the speaker here cleared his throat and wiped his mouth, thus affording his hearers ample time for applause, but "my applause" greeted the speaker's ears. It is evident that Mr. Wheeler did not know his audience. He knew the Democrats, if anything, are conscientious and not two-faced, so to speak, and when they remembered that the dear old law that guards the rights of the people, that they were to be too consistent, at least, to applaud any such reckless assertion as was made by the honorable gentleman.

His reference to the Jefferson and Andrew Jackson, if not entirely new or appropriate in a modern Democratic speech, was fine, but he seemed to select a few of the garments of a huge wardrobe of these fathers of Democracy and tried them on the skeleton forms of their step-children he found that they would not fit at all.

With burning eloquence he referred to the long and honorable record of the Democratic party in its battle for personal liberty and civil rights, omitting, however, for the sake of brevity, any reference to its hard struggle in securing the passage of the Goebel, Neillitt and other laws.

and other laws in several Southern states to protect the ballot-box from Republican voters.

His eloquence and pathos in describing the grand old Democratic party as the guardian and protector of the Constitution was truly touching, and it is regrettable that several of General Lee's and General John Morgan's old veterans to shed tears.

Amid countless silences, for the speaker could not raise a yell, the speaker plucked the Democratic party as standing guard at the door of the grand old Temple of Liberty and protecting it against all enemies, from the organization of our Government down to here the gifted orator hesitated a moment, and with consummate tact and wisdom passed over that somewhat historic period from 1860 to 1865, or thereabouts, when quite a number of the old guard were otherwise engaged, and discreetly, though abruptly, launched off into a discussion of Trusts and of our new possessions. Here, again, he disappointed his audience by saying that there was no law to prevent a combination of capital in trade or manufacture, and by suggesting no better safeguard against the growing evil of the gigantic Trusts than by sending him to the United States Senate.

But it was, perhaps, in his glowing description of our treatment of the Philippine Islands for four centuries for self-government and in his pathetic reference to the Sultan of Sulu, with his thirty-two wives and a variety of other things, that he displayed more oratory and awakened more genuine sympathy than in any other part of his speech; but he spoiled the beautiful picture by immediately saying that the inhabitants of our new possessions are savages, and that it was not for them that he was concerned, but for the people of the United States that he trembled. Not concerned even for the Sultan of Sulu? This was too much for his sympathizing Democratic audience, most of whom had one wife, each, and they reasoned that a man, a married man, who could be wholly unconcerned about poor old Sulu, with his thirty-two wives, and only $9,000 a year, did not have a sufficient amount of the milk of human kindness to make a first-class United States Senator.

While speaking of this awful polygamy stain upon our Government in the Sulu Islands, he forgot to tell how the political fathers, for over half a century, countenanced a similar disgrace in the United States, and that the same political party that put an end to polygamy in the United States here, in the time, effectually and without bloodshed and then in all our "possessions."

His discussion of the Porto Rico Tariff he was most unfortunate. He feltingly told how he had labored long in vain for a reconsideration of the vote on the political fathers, for over half a century, and failed even to obtain recognition, and that he was absolutely helpless and without any influence whatever. At this the cruel-hearted and selfish Sultans in the audience smiled, and doubtless thought, "Well, Colonel, if you had no influence in the Lower House, what better could we expect if you were in the Senate; you should retire and give our candidates a clear field."

At this point Mr. Wheeler noticed a tired feeling coming over his audience, and he wisely began his peroration, which though not entirely new or startling, was eloquently rendered. He said that Democracy stands for everything that is good, grand and glorious, and while he was no prognosticator of evil, he trembled for the fate of the Republic and believed if it were not rescued from the corrupting and debasing influences of the Republican party, it would soon be numbered with the fallen Nations;

BRAIN-FOOD NONSENSE.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only furnish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutrient is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower. This favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few drops induce indigestion, stimulate the liver to healthy action, purify the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. O. Green reliable remedies at J. Jas. COLICKY PRETTY TEETHING BABES NEED LAXAKOLA

The Great Tonic Laxative

WATCH the children carefully. Their health, perhaps their lives, depend on keeping their bowels regular. Many parents make a mistake by giving their little children the old-fashioned, violent purgatives which are racking and griping, and are therefore not only unpleasant, but dangerous.

Laxakola does not grip nor irritate. It is a pure, gentle and painless liquid laxative. It is not only a sure laxative, but it contains valuable tonic properties which not only set upon the bowels, but tone up the entire system and purify the blood. A few drops can be given with safety to very young babies, and will often relieve colic by expelling the wind and gas that cause it. Great relief is experienced when administered to young children suffering from diarrhea, accompanied with white or green evacuations, as LAXAKOLA neutralizes the acidity of the bowels and carries out the cause of the fermentation. It will aid digestion, relieve restlessness, assist nature, and induce sleep. For constipation, simple fever, coated tongue, or any infantile troubles arising from a disordered condition of the stomach it is invaluable. At druggists, etc., and, or, send for free sample to LAXAKOLA CO., 125 Nassau Street, New York, or 301 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

that its only refuge of safety was in the Democratic party, and as long as Democratic principles prevailed the Republic would live.

At this grand climax, most any Democratic speaker, less egotistical than Mr. Wheeler, could reasonably expect "great applause," and the eloquent gentleman again, very appropriately, took a long breath, while his kinsman, the Hon. J. E. Wheeler, former Senator from this District, winked at Colonel Osborne to start the applause, but the Colonel never rushes blindly into anything, and not being thoroughly satisfied as to which of the Democratic principles the speaker referred, whether the anti-coercion of states, or that the war is a failure, whether Free Trade or Tariff for Revenue only, for Sound Money or Greenbacks, Gold Standard or Free Silver, Expansion or anti-Expansion, Bryanism or Clevelandism, Goetheism or anti-Goetheism, in short, not being satisfied whether the speaker meant that it would take one or all of these Democratic principles to save the country from destruction, he would not start the cheering.

Upon the whole Congressman Wheeler made much the best Democratic speech that has been made in this town for many a day, and judging from his careful, conservative utterances and from his own account of his stewardship as a member of Congress, if elected to the United States Senate, if he can't do any good, he won't do much harm.

Plant to be Erected at Saint Ste. Marie to Cost Approximately $10,000,000.

CANADA MATERIAL TO BE USED.

Signed Contracts for Building Twelve Freight-Carrying Steamers of 6,000 to 10,000 Tons Capacity.

The Capital, Nearly $4,000,000, to be Furnished by Americans—Immense Ice Crushing Steamers to be Constructed.

New York, Dec. 4.—Sir Christopher Frederick, M. P., of London, Tuesday, taking with him signed contracts for the building of 12 freight-carrying steamers of 6,000 to 10,000 tons capacity, arrived here early today. The material to be furnished by Americans, also made arrangements with the Clergue interests, at Saint Ste Marie, for the construction of an immense shipbuilding plant to be located at Saint Ste Marie, close to the junction of the "Soo" Canal and Lake Superior. Here will be erected steel works which will cost approximately $10,000,000, and the iron and coal fields of Canada will furnish the raw material.

Before sailing Sir Christopher said that during the two months he had spent in this country, he had found why the United States manufacturers are crowding the British producer. He has seen here the railroad locomotives hauling twice the load hauled on the English roads, with half the expense. Everything, also, he had seen done on the same economic scale. Because he believes Canada is sure to profit by the greatness of the United States, he has chosen to locate his plant here. The drawback of ice in the St. Lawrence river would be overcome by immense ice crushing steamers.
